FAKING OVERTIME.

The Republican canard factory, having run out of legitimate campaign material, is working overtime on bogus stories for the delusion of the unwary. Having worked off the Solomon Kimball fabrication, it is now telling of an alleged trade between the "Americans" and Democrats by which the Democrats are going to abandon their candidates for local offices and the "Americans" are going to vote for the Democratic national and state tickets.

Just how flimsy the fake is may be imagined from the charge that Ashby Snow, James H. Moyle, Judge W. H. Kins, and other equally prominent Mormons are parties to the deal. Every Mormon with brains enough to think at all knows that these gentlemen are loyal members of their church, staunch Democrats and above suspicion of dishonesty, either in politics, business or religion. They know, further, that neither Mr. Snow, Judge King nor Mr. Moyle would traffic with the "American" party on any terms or for any purpose. President Smith himself would be as likely to vote for any "American" candidate as either of the men named; and yet the Republican machine, represented by Senator Smoot's organ, asks its readers, most of whom are Mormons, to believe that these leaders in their church and in the Democratic party have made a dishonorable agreement to betray their party and join hands with the assailants of their church.

It is likely a large number of "American" Republicans will vote for Mr. Bryan. Many of them supported Bryan when he was a candidate before, and many of them will vote for him this year. On the other hand, a great many Republicans, both Mormon and non-Mormon, will vote the "American" ticket, as they did in the last city election and as they will continue to do so long as the Republican party is dominated by the Smoot combination of federal officeholders.

The Democrats, being identified with neither of these factions, will continue to vote for their own candidates, pursuing their own way and maintaining the only organization which appeals to the voter on legitimate political lines. There will be no deals or trades between the Democracy and any other party, now or at any other time, but there will be a Democratic victory in this state that will go far toward restoring peace and compelling the factions to abandon their guerrilla system of warfare for the sake of office.

AN UNINTENTIONAL FAVOR.

It is now in order for the Democratic state committee to pass a vote of thanks to the Republican Smoot committee for removing the Taft electors from the "American" party tickets. The only possible result of the action will be the loss of a good many votes to Taft and a corresponding gain for Bryan from "American" Republicans who would otherwise have cast their ballots for the Republican presidential candidate.

The official explanation of the move is that the Republicans were averse to letting the "Americans" gain such support in the county as might have come from having the Taft electors on the "American" ticket. That is to say, the Smoot machine prefers to risk the loss of the state for president rather than have the "Americans" carry Salt Lake county. As a matter of conjecture, based on knowledge of local conditions, the inevitable effect will be to disgust such "American" Republicans as had intended to vote for Taft; and if they do not vote for Bryan as many of them will, they are certain to refuse to support Taft under the circumstances.

As contrasted with this position, the Democrats, having no part in the factional quarrel of the two Republican wings, welcome support from every source. They had already a splendid chance to carry the state, both for Bryan and the state and congressional tickets, headed by Mr. Knight and Mr. Martineau; and this Smoot machine increases the probability of Democratic victory immeasurably. Whatever the result of the local tickets, it is certain that the state ticket will carry Salt Lake county. Utah county is Knight's beyond question, as the demonstration at Provo showed when the candidate for governor was notified of his nomination. Cache county ought to be a line; Weber county Democrats are united as never before and are making a winning campaign. The minor campaigns are all Democratic, so that the centers of population, which cast a large part of the state's vote, are in line for Bryan and Knight.

Altogether, that vote of thanks is due the Smoot machine for its stupidity in refusing to accept "American" votes for Taft.

HAS BRYAN WALKOVER IN UTAH?

The action of the Taft electors in filing a declaration of their nomination by the "Taft-Liberal party" raises the interesting question as to whether there are now any Taft electors in nomination in Utah who can legally be voted for. The declaration reads as follows:

Hon. C. S. Tingey, Secretary of State: Having been nominated by certain voters residing within the state of Utah and affiliated under the political name of "Taft-Liberal ticket," by a certificate of nomination filed in your office Oct. 2, 1908, for the office of presidential elector, to vote for president and vice president of the United States, I hereby notify you that I decline such nomination by such voters on said "Taft-Liberal ticket." Nothing herein contained, however, shall be considered as a declaration of my nomination for presidential elector to vote for president and vice president of the United States heretofore made by the Utah Republican state convention on Sept. 15, 1908, which said last named nomination I hereby expressly accept.

Our statute provides that a person who has been nominated for public office may decline that nomination by notifying the proper officer in writing, and if he does so the nomination becomes void. It will be observed that the declaration contemplated refers to a refusal to accept the nomination for a particular office, not to a refusal to allow one's name to be placed upon a particular ticket. The Republican nomination was a nomination of electors to vote for Taft for president. The "Taft Liberal" nomination is a nomination to vote for Taft for president. It is claimed by some, therefore, that if the paper filed amounts to anything at all, it is a declaration of the nomination as electors to vote for Taft for president, and if this is the case, Taft has now no electors in nomination in this state, notwithstanding the saving clause of the paper.

In Kansas, in 1896, the Democratic candidates for electors were also certified as nominated by the People's party, and Thomas E. Watson, the People's party nominee for vice president, filed a paper forbidding the use of his name on a ticket containing Bryan and Sewall electors, and the supreme court of Kansas said: "Mr. Watson does not attempt to decline the national nomination, nor even withdraw as a candidate in Kansas, if such a thing can be done; but he says he declines to have his name used upon a certain official ballot. He does not withdraw from nomination." The electors on the "Taft-Liberal" ticket do not withdraw from nomination, but they decline to allow their names to be used on a certain official ticket. If their paper is effective, it raises the question whether there are any Taft electors in nomination.

THE KIMBALL FAKE.

With a face as long as a flour barrel and a solemnity that fairly oozes sanctimonious apprehension, the Deseret News says of Solomon Kimball's pipe dream:

"We hope Mr. Kimball's story is not true. Nothing could be more deplorable to all parties than another religious war, but we firmly believe that unless the respectable 'American' citizens take the party management in their own hands and eliminate the sentiment of anti-Mormonism, of which the local leaders are inspired, from local politics, there will be no peace."

"We hope Mr. Kimball's story is not true," do we? As though it ever had any semblance of truth to justify its publication except for scarecrow purposes! "We hope it is not true," do we, when Kimball asks us to believe that the wicked anti-Mormon conspirators described by his anonymous dead and buried friend were going to "turn the temple into a state house and the Tabernacle into a dance hall?" What sort of a puddinghead would even discuss such twaddle seriously and take the trouble to "hope it is not true?"

Imagine the frame of mind that could connect Solomon's pie delirium with grave matters of state when, according to the veracious Kimball, these conspirators were going to seize all the Mormon houses for plunder and take unto themselves all the fat jobs in Zion after having driven the Mormons from these fair valleys. Of course, that would be an easy job—for Solomon's dead friend. It wouldn't be a bit of trouble to drive all the Mormons out of Utah, grab off their homes and sit down to the salaried official jobs that now comfort and support Reed Smoot and all his friends from Wells-ville to Kanab and back again. Easy? Sure; it would be about as easy as the job Russia had when it tackled Japan in the late unpleasantness, and about as profitable.

The Mormons are a peace-loving people, but the feeblest of minds could not imagine them submitting to any injustice without protest, much less to confiscation of their property. Moreover, there are courts in Utah and officers of the law, mostly Mormons, who have a deep-rooted aversion to illegal proceedings such as Kimball's fairy tale outlines. To say nothing of the fact that the Mormon people constitute an overwhelming majority of the population of Utah, so that the fulfillment of Solomon's dreadful conspiracy have to depend upon Mormon support and the sublimation of the whole thing to robbery on a scale not seen since the Hebrews spoiled the Egyptians.

Then again—but the whole story is so preposterous that the discussion of it seriously would be what Kimball calls a futile piffle. The most that may be said about it is that it is unworthy of credence, even if it had been said by a truthful man; and in this particular case it lacks even that necessary support.

"We hope Mr. Kimball's story is not true," indeed! Also we hope the moon is not made of green cheese and that Mississippi is not going to vote for Taft this year. Likewise, we trust the News will not be deluded with the notion that its gravity is buncing anybody into believing the Kimball fake. If the News is definitely committed to the promotion of the Republican cause, that is all right, but it ought to insist on having more plausible contributions from the Smoot literary and oratorical bureau.

THE LABOR VOTE.

The belief of Mr. Bryan that he is going to receive nearly the solid vote of the laboring classes in the United States has a more substantial foundation than mere faith. From every quarter comes news that workmen all over the country are determined to answer the slight put upon them by the Chicago convention with their ballots. That there is general alarm in the Republican camp in consequence becomes more apparent each day as the efforts of Roosevelt, Taft and the other leaders are put forth in vain endeavor to stem the tide.

Mr. Taft is stumping Ohio this week, endeavoring the square himself for the injunction issued in 1893, which was denounced by the chiefs of the great railway organizations. Mr. Roosevelt has had some of the railroad men visit him at the White House, and the charge is made that Daniel J. Keefe, president of the Longshoremen's union, has been promised the place made vacant by the death of Sargent in return for his support of Taft.

Further proof that the labor vote is going to Bryan is furnished by Walter Wellman, who uses up two columns of the Chicago Record-Herald in discussing the question, and who finally comes to the conclusion that the enormous pluralities received by Roosevelt four years ago is the only foundation upon which to base a hope for the election of Mr. Taft. Mr. Wellman writes from Cleveland, O., after interviewing workmen in all branches of trade, and may be presumed to know whereof he speaks when he says that there is a distinct trend toward Bryan. In the beginning of his long article, in which he attempts to analyze the situation, Mr. Wellman says:

"Why does the railroad employ vote and the labor vote in general show a distinct trend toward the Democratic party this year? There is no more interesting question at present in the field of politics; for it is now generally recognized that while the probabilities, broadly viewed, still favor the election of Judge Taft over Mr. Bryan, there are ominous possibilities of surprise and revolution in the tendency of the men who work with their hands to give their support to the opposition party."

The possibilities are not "ominous" to the laboring men themselves, and there will be no very great surprise if, as now seems more probable, the labor vote overwhelms the party whose chairman of the committee on resolutions at the national convention told them to take their troubles to Denver.

SOCIETY.

All things are in fine working order for Salt Lake's annual society event, the great charity ball of the Hospital Aid society, which is to be given this year at the Odeon on Nov. 17. At the meeting of the association held yesterday morning the last details possible at this date were completed and all important committees appointed. The special committee consisting of Mrs. W. P. Kiser, Mrs. W. H. Child and Mrs. Benjamin Bonjourn, appointed to see about the hall, reported a great concession made by the managers of the Odeon in cutting the price in half for the benefit of the charity work. The new committees appointed were an executive committee consisting of Mrs. F. S. Bascom, Mrs. Windsor V. Rice, Mrs. W. Montague Perry, Mrs. Russell Tracy, Mrs. A. J. Gorham and Mrs. William Igleheart. These, with the president, Mrs. Jennings, and secretary, Miss Howat, will form the reception committee. Mrs. Sol Siegel and Mrs. Bascom will have charge of the selling of the tickets. Mrs. Benjamin and Mrs. J. A. Reeves will manage the ticket fund, the tickets having been donated by W. H. Child. Mrs. Tracy will sell the punch committee and Mrs. O. W. Powers and Mrs. Bancroft will constitute the program committee. The supper, which is to be an elaborate affair of the dance as usual, will be in the hands of Mrs. C. E. Farsall, assisted by Mrs. W. E. McGrath, Mrs. Samuel Paul, Mrs. J. E. Gallagher, Mrs. Rachel Miller, Mrs. R. A. Broadhurst, Mrs. C. G. Verbruggen and Mrs. C. H. McMahon. Special cars are to be arranged for both the going and coming hours, and the association meets Wednesday morning, Oct. 28, to report progress.

Miss Margaret Miller now holds the woman's golf championship, having won the president's cup yesterday over Mrs. Jack Taylor by a score of five up and four to play. As Mrs. Taylor played scratch as against four strokes for Miss Miller, the honors may be said to be about even. Mrs. Taylor won last year's cup, and so was given scratch. The names that will go on the cup are Mrs. Taylor, Miss Miller, Mrs. C. S. Taylor, Mrs. Worthington. The cup is the handsomest ever presented to the club since it has been in the new club house, and is a trophy of which any woman might well be proud.

Mr. William C. Hall of Los Angeles was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a delightful bridge tea given by Mrs. Ferdinand J. Fabian at her home on Twelfth East street. Four tables of the game were played, and prizes were won by Mrs. George C. Moore, Mrs. James E. Jennings, Mrs. Charles L. Rood and Mrs. J. B. Risque. At the tea which followed, Mrs. Ledgers, Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Karl A. Scheid poured. The tea table was beautiful with its decorations of tall yellow chrysanthemums.

The marriage of Miss Nelle Westling and Walter H. Alder was solemnized last evening at 7:30 in the new home of the young couple. The bride was attended by Miss May Alder and Miss Claudine Jones, and C. D. Schettler was the best man. The home was made most attractive with roses, ferns, palms, and a wealth of ivy. A reception followed, when about fifty of the friends of the young people came in to wish them joy. They were assisted in receiving their friends by Mrs. C. D. Schettler and Mrs. George D. Alder. Mr. and Mrs. Alder will shortly be at home at No. 36 Pleasant court.

Mrs. Grant Hamilton was the hostess yesterday at a Japanese card party for Miss Jean Odell, one of the autumn brides. About forty guests were entertained, and 500 was the game played. The home was all decorated with Japanese lanterns and chrysanthemums, and Japanese favors and prizes were used in the game. Mrs. A. J. Gorham and Mrs. Andrew Howat won the prizes, and a handsome basket of chrysanthemums went to the guest of honor.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's League will be held next Monday afternoon in the public library. At this meeting the women will take up the various plans of civic government now claiming attention, and some prominent speakers on the subject will be heard. All women of the city, regardless of membership, are welcomed at these meetings.

The marriage of Miss Florence Tuddenham and J. E. Langford, Jr., which took place yesterday at noon in the temple, was followed last evening by an informal reception to their friends at the home of the bride's brother. Later Mr. and Mrs. Langford left for Los Angeles, to be away for about a fortnight. They will be at home at 122 K street.

Mrs. E. W. Wilson, formerly of this city but now of San Francisco, will leave today with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Joy, for home. They will remain over in Ogden to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cunningham, and will leave on the night train to-night for home.

Mrs. D. F. Walker and Miss Walker of San Francisco, who have spent a part of the summer here, will remain through the winter, and are at home at the Fifth East hotel.

Mrs. J. M. Reynolds will give a paper on "Palace Architecture of Florence" before the art section of the Ladies' Literary club at 10 o'clock this morning.

The College club will meet this evening with Miss Cassidy and Miss Rowe at the Canning flats, Fifth East and Second South streets. Frank B. Stephens will give an address on the Des Moines plan of city government.

Mrs. J. M. Moore will entertain the

Mrs. J. R. Walker and Mrs. Ray Walker returned last evening from New York.
Mrs. E. M. Charlton leaves today for the east, to be away only a short time.

WOMEN'S STREET BOOTS.

The woman that goes so far, stands a great deal should have a pair of these comfortable, sensible and sturdy boots.
They are made along easy lines, full of style and grace, of choice flexible but strong leather, medium heels and with the idea of supporting the foot and making walking a pleasure.
At this season of the year every woman should have a pair of our street boots.
We can fit every foot that comes to us perfectly.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Langford left for Los Angeles, to be away for about a fortnight. They will be at home at 122 K street.

Mrs. E. W. Wilson, formerly of this city but now of San Francisco, will leave today with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Joy, for home. They will remain over in Ogden to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cunningham, and will leave on the night train to-night for home.

Mrs. D. F. Walker and Miss Walker of San Francisco, who have spent a part of the summer here, will remain through the winter, and are at home at the Fifth East hotel.

Mrs. J. M. Reynolds will give a paper on "Palace Architecture of Florence" before the art section of the Ladies' Literary club at 10 o'clock this morning.

The College club will meet this evening with Miss Cassidy and Miss Rowe at the Canning flats, Fifth East and Second South streets. Frank B. Stephens will give an address on the Des Moines plan of city government.

Mrs. J. M. Moore will entertain the

WOMEN'S STREET BOOTS.

The woman that goes so far, stands a great deal should have a pair of these comfortable, sensible and sturdy boots.
They are made along easy lines, full of style and grace, of choice flexible but strong leather, medium heels and with the idea of supporting the foot and making walking a pleasure.
At this season of the year every woman should have a pair of our street boots.
We can fit every foot that comes to us perfectly.
